Software Verification Homework 5

Yosef, Andrew

January 10, 2023

1

The system is meant to verify a username and passowrd passed as command line arguments. The first parameter is a username and the second one is a password; both the username and password must be integers.